Resolution 7 – appointment of Chris Stone as a Council Nominated Director

CHRIS STONE

Chris began volunteering for the BMC in 2016 as hill walking rep for the London & South East Area. Over three years he increased the prominence of the hill walking in the area and led numerous walks for members in the local area. In 2018 he was elected Chair of the area and National Council rep. As chair, and now as a director, he has a particular interest in increasing member engagement across the organisation and championing the members' voice.

Chris has a degree in Stage Management and has worked for over 8 years for a Multi Academy Trust in East London as Technical Manager for their two purpose-built theatres. His work for the trust has included involvement with two building projects, procurement of equipment and services, production and technical management of a range of events and overseeing commercial hires at the venues. Similarly to the outdoors, he is passionate about the arts, the impact it has on young people and increasing diversity within the sector.

Chris is currently training to be a mountain leader and escapes to the hills as often as possible enjoying scrambling and long-distance walks. A recent highlight was visiting Yosemite and hiking up some of the most iconic mountains in the world. To keep active whilst in London he has started indoor climbing and bouldering.
